Management-Side Labor and Employment Law

Winter Workshop Series

“Tackling the FMLA Beast”

It is no secret that complying with State and Federal FMLA obligations is probably the most challenging – and frustrating tasks that human resource professionals face on a daily basis – and likely will ever face! How do you reconcile conflicting obligations under both laws? What is a “serious health condition?” How do you treat individuals recovering from work-related injuries? What happens when an individual exhausts all of his/her FMLA? What do you do if you discover performance issues while the employee is out on leave? The list seems to go on forever.

This workshop is designed to help answer some of the more difficult questions under the FMLA - and give you the opportunity to ask the questions that have often confounded you. We will address all of the above issues and more, including the following:

- How to reconcile obligations under the Wisconsin and Federal FMLAs
- What are the biggest changes under the new regulations
- Exhaustion of FMLA and the duty to accommodate under the ADA
- Dealing with intermittent leave
- How to prepare, and implement, an FMLA policy
